ARCHITECTURAL DESCRIPTION:

Describe architectural features. Evaluate the characteristics of this building in terms of other buildings within the community.

This house consists of two parts – a one-story block with hip roof and a two-story block, also with hip roof. It is very likely that the two-story portion was a later addition. The one-story block rests on a raised concrete block foundation – an indication of earlier construction (the foundation of the two-story portion is not visible). The elevations are clad in wood shingles with plain cornerboards. The roofs are clad in asphalt shingles and have slightly-projecting eaves. A low-pitched shed roof on the west elevation of the one-story block covers a screen porch (with storm windows). Fenestration includes single and grouped modern, thermal 2/2 windows.

HISTORICAL NARRATIVE

Discuss the history of the building. Explain its associations with local (or state) history. Include uses of the building, and the role(s) the owners/occupants played within the community.

Incorporated as Nauset Plantation in 1646, and changed to Eastham in 1651, Eastham territory originally extended south to Pleasant Bay and north beyond Wellfleet Harbor. The early development pattern for what we now know as Eastham was impacted by its absence of deep-water harbor facilities. Relatively fertile soil led to dispersed agricultural settlement, but residential and commercial development was concentrated to the north at Wellfleet Harbor and to the south at Town Cove and Pleasant Bay. When the separate towns of Wellfleet and Orleans were created in the late-18th century, Eastham became and remained one of the least populated towns on the Cape throughout the 19th century.

In the 19th century, Eastham was the agricultural center of the Outer Cape. Crops evolved over time; corn and dairy were surpassed in the early-20th century by asparagus and turnips - two crops well suited for the sandy soil. In 1900, 58% of Eastham's workers were employed as farmers, but by 1930 that number had dwindled to 21%. Summer resort development, including cottage colonies and subdivisions of former farmland that would transform Eastham, had begun in earnest in the 1920s as middle-class access to car ownership increased and Cape roads were improved.

This property is connected to the cottage development around Campground Road - one of the three earliest roads to extend west to Cape Cod Bay from the central sections of Eastham. Despite the early development of the road, which was established to serve the Methodist camp meetings in the mid-19th century, the great majority of houses that border it, especially to the north, are 20th-century vernacular summer cottages and retirement houses.

One of the earliest subdivisions at the west end of Campground Road was registered in 1915 by Robert E. Horton, who was then living in Boston. It was the first of three subdivisions he registered. Horton, whose father Robert R. Horton, had been a grocer, railroad station master, and postmaster in North Eastham, purchased a large parcel abutting the area's first subdivision by Alonzo Higgins. The land Horton bought had belonged to farmers Barnabas K. Mayo and William H. Nickerson in the 19th century. Horton's first subdivision in 1915 laid out sixty-four lots and four roads - the northward extension of Bay Road, Gail's Way, Marion's Way, and Gile Road (Figure 2). In 1925 and 1934 Horton expanded his subdivision to the north.

This cottage was built on portions of Lots 59 and 60 on Robert Horton's 1915 subdivision. In 1923 and 1924, Horton sold Lots 59 and 60, along with other parcels, to Samuel F. Brackett.¹ According to the Eastham tax Commitment Books, Samuel Brackett was assessed for numerous cottages, so it is not possible to pinpoint the construction date of this cottage. It has an Assessor date of 1920, but ca. 1925 may be more accurate.

Samuel F. Brackett was the son of Elkanah C. Brackett (1809-91) and his second wife Achsah Snow Crosby Smith (1823-1903). Samuel F. Brackett was born in 1864, and by 1880 he and his older brother George B. were doing farm work, but they began to invest in real estate and to build cottages for summer residents by the turn of the century. Samuel F. Brackett was very active in Eastham real estate starting in the 1890s and continuing into the 1940s. Not surprisingly, the early decades consisted primarily of purchases and in the later decades consisted primarily of sales; but by 1943, he lost numerous properties through tax takings.

After Samuel F. Brackett married Anna S. Eldredge of Wellfleet in 1888, the couple moved to the former Scotter Cobb house at 670 Massasoit Road (EAS.80), and in the 1900 census, Brackett was listed as a grocer. This undoubtedly refers to his working at the Cobb-Brackett General Store (580 Massasoit Road, EAS.7), which he would go on to purchase in 1903. Samuel F. Brackett and his wife had one son, Samuel H. Brackett, in 1906. By 1929 Samuel F. had retired from running the store and turned its management over to his son.

In 1942, Brackett sold this parcel, still described as being portions of Lots 59 and 60, together with a cottage known as "Whispering Pines" to Edward and Annie E. Benz of Belmont.² Edward Benz (b. 1894) married Anne O'Brien in 1925. At the time they bought this cottage, they were living in a rented house in Belmont and he was working as a sales manager for a retail truck distributor – a profession he appeared to hold his entire career. In 1954, they sold this cottage to John J. and Virginia M. Santry of Natick, and in 1959, the Santrys sold it to M. Pallen and Nancy M. McArdle of Bedford, MA.³ They were living in Gloucester in 1967 when they sold this property to Helen E. and George S. Duffy, Sr. of Eastham.⁴ The Duffys may have purchased this cottage as a rental property; they were living on Campground Road in 1969 when they sold this property to Richard and Sylvia Campbell-Jacobs of Middle Haddam, CT.⁵ In 1979, they sold it to Carol S. Wood, also of Middle Haddam,⁶ and it remains in her family.
